13.d. Rehabilitative services. (continued)

Components of Mental Health Community Support Services

A mental health professional, a mental health practitioner under the clinical supervision of a mental health professional, and a mental health rehabilitation worker under the direction of a mental health professional or mental health practitioner and under the clinical supervision of a mental health professional must be capable of providing the following two components:

1. Basic living and social skills, which may include:
  - A. Communication skills.
  - B. Budgeting and shopping skills.
  - C. Healthy lifestyle skills.
  - D. Household management skills.
  - E. Transportation skills.
  - F. Medication monitoring.
  - G. Crisis assistance skills, including relapse prevention skills and developing a health care document.
2. Consultation with relatives, guardians, friends, employers, treatment providers, and other significant people, in order to change situations and allow the recipient to function more independently. The consultation must be directed exclusively to the treatment of the recipient.

A physician, pharmacist and registered nurse must be capable of providing medication education. Medication education includes training the recipient in the symptoms of mental illness, discussing the benefits and side effects of psychotropic medication, and discussing the importance of medication compliance. Medical education enables the recipient to better manage the symptoms of mental illness, allowing the recipient to return to independent functioning with less chance of relapse.

The services below are not eligible for medical assistance payment as mental health community support services:

1. Recipient transportation services.
2. Services billed by a nonenrolled Medicaid provider.
3. Services provided by volunteers.
4. Direct billing of time spent "on call" when not providing services.
5. Job-specific skills services, such as on-the-job training.
6. Performance of household tasks, chores, or related activities for the recipient.
7. Provider service time paid as part of case management services.

---

8. Outreach services, which means services identifying potentially eligible people in the community, informing potentially eligible people of the availability of medically needy mental health mental health community support services, and assisting potentially eligible people with applying for these services.

9. Services provided by a hospital, board and lodge facility, or residential facility to patients or residents. This includes services provided by an institution for mental disease.

- Mental health crisis response services are services recommended by a physician, mental health professional defined in item 6.d.A., or mental health practitioner defined on ~~pages 53l-53m~~ page 53n.

The following are eligible to provide mental health crisis response services:

1. An entity operated by a county.

2. An entity under contract with a county.
3. A facility of the Indian Health Service or a facility owned or operated by a tribe or tribal organization and funded by either Title I of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act, P.L. 93-638, or Title V of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act, P.L. 106-260 (formerly Title III of P.L. 93-638), operating as a 638 facility.

Mental health practitioners and mental health rehabilitation workers must complete at least 30 hours of training in crisis response services skills and knowledge every two years.

The components of mental health crisis response services are:

1. Crisis assessment. Crisis assessment is an immediate face-to-face appraisal by a physician, mental health professional, or mental health practitioner under the clinical supervision of a mental health professional, following a determination that suggests the recipient may be experiencing a mental health crisis.

The crisis assessment is an evaluation of any immediate needs for which emergency services are necessary and, as time permits, the recipient's life situation, sources of stress, mental health problems and symptoms, strengths, cultural considerations, support network, vulnerabilities, and current functioning.

2. Crisis intervention. Crisis intervention is a face-to-face, short-term intensive service provided during a mental health crisis to help a recipient cope with immediate stressors, identify and utilize available resources and strengths, and begin to return to the recipient's baseline level of functioning. Crisis intervention must be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

A. Crisis intervention is provided after the crisis assessment.

- B. Crisis intervention includes developing a crisis treatment plan. The plan must include recommendations for any needed crisis stabilization services. It must be developed no later than 24 hours after the first face-to-face intervention. The plan must address the needs and problems noted in the crisis assessment and include measurable short-term goals, cultural considerations, and frequency and type of services to be provided. The plan must be updated as needed to reflect current goals and services.

The crisis intervention team must document which short-term goals were met, and when no further crisis intervention services are required.

- C. The crisis intervention team is comprised of at least two mental health professionals, or a combination of at least one mental health professional and one mental health practitioner with the required crisis training and under the clinical supervision of a mental health professional on the team. The team must have at least two members, with at least one member providing on-site crisis intervention services when needed.
- D. If possible, at least two members must confer in person or by telephone about the assessment, crisis treatment plan, and necessary actions taken.
- E. If a recipient's crisis is stabilized, but the recipient needs a referral to other services, the team must provide referrals to these services.
